

In listening to passengers, I have found a very strong feeling that they do not want relaxed use of cell phones. The common comment is, "I do not want to be listening to someones conversation and almost always too loud on the plane, it is bad enough while just taxiing on the runway." I strongly oppose relaxing the rules.